. . Foreword . .

Just as Arthur's sword--
EXCALIBUR--exemplified the unconquerable power of good...we, the graduating class, dedicate our worldly power to preserve the just and right that remain on our earth.

our school is located
under this glorious flag

The best and commonest of any educational system is the administrative staff and is surely one of the best.

ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Lindley

 fine director of a fine school ***

MR. AARON T. LINDLEY
Superintendent, Crown Point Schools

If we were asked to name the man who has done the most toward making our new building possible, it would most certainly be Mr. Lindley, Superintendent of Crown Point Schools. Through diligent service and perseverance, he has left with us an example of fine leadership which we will always remember.

Directors

Mr. Fred Young, treasurer; Dr. C. R. Pettibone, secretary; and Mr. William Kobelin, president, make up our school board. They've done a lot toward improving our educational system.

Mr. Erwin

Always ready to help in any way possible, Mr. Erwin has proved to be a real friend in time of need. As principal of Crown Point High, he has achieved an enviable record in efficiency and service.

If both your fan club and your friends, you can only move forward giving your school a desirable atmosphere.

CLASSMATES

Page Twelve

This is our yearbook It is little enough to give to the school and to our friends, considering what they have given to us Our instructors have provided guidance that we could not obtain elsewhere, even in the home our classmates have given us companionships that we will always remember Throughout our years of study we have dreamed of the day when we should graduate Throughout those years we have been told by others—older, and wiser, than ourselves—that we would regret the day that our dreams come true We have replied perhaps sarcastically "Don't worry. I'll be plenty glad when I graduate" Now that the time has come we wonder and admit grudgingly that it isn't as much fun as we thought it would be we know that as we go our different ways we will lose old companions and old attachments and we know that we will miss them But we have prepared these twelve years for the greater things that lie beyond our school years for new friends new experiences and new environments We do not enter an easy world we enter a world filled with hate, greed, and hardship But we thank God that we enter into this world from a land that will help, instead of hinder us, in our fight to attain individual success knowing this, we set out upon our various paths with a greater hope that we shall do our part to make this a better and a more peaceful world to live in.

Our Officers

Jack Knotts, Vice-President; Josephine Krieter, Secretary; Evelyn Bailey, Treasurer; Dick Glover, President.

Working together, always with this yearbook in mind, the Class of 1942 has a record to be proud of. The senior play, selling annuals and ads, soliciting for magazine subscriptions—all have been smashing successes.

ACTIVITIES

The Dramatics Club has spent the past season in studying the fundamentals of stage work and stage technique. A great deal of time has been spent in studying characterizations and pantomime.

DRAMATICS

Another busy branch of the club is the make-up department. They spend their time studying highlights, make-up technique and stage effects.

District Attorney Flint questions the murdered man's wife. Excellent direction and acting made this one of the outstanding plays in the school's history.

Senior Play

The accused, Karen Andre, confers with her lawyer, Mr. Stevens. After a thrilling trial, she was proved to be innocent.

Staff

This 1942 Excelsior, perhaps the last to be published for a time, has been the result of long hours of work contributed by the people whom you see on this page. We sincerely hope that you enjoy the finished product as much as we have enjoyed preparing it for you.

The editorial staff had its first three meetings around a ping-pong table. First, ideas were considered; then the layouts were organized . . . before you knew it the time came to take pictures . . . January . . . February . . . "Get those photos to the engraver!" . . . March . . . "Finish that copy!" . . . April . . . off to the printers and binders . . . it seemed but a few days of continual rush and hub-bub . . . and the book was 'one. Then the years of waiting for the first book to come back . . . finally . . . it was here! We approached it like a mouse would a cat . . . the cover looked nice . . . but how was the inside? Some brave soul picked it up first . . . we don't remember just who . . . and then . . . we leafed through it . . . slowly at first . . . then faster . . . When we had finished we knew that we had made a book that we, and our school, could be proud of.

Inklings

Loeane Mathews, Jackie Bourne and Corrine Bunker are the big chiefs of the Inklings staff. The Inklings, our school paper, is published bi-monthly. Its pattern usually follows the combination of feature page, editorial page, class news, and special happenings.

Kathleen Krieter, Dorothy Adank, Bernice Cernoborsky, and Rosemary Becker are the runner-offers and staplers. They spend many long hours preparing the paper for distribution.

Marian Sabey takes care of the stenciling. The paper is usually profusely illustrated with her art work.

Quill & Scroll

The Crown Point Chapter of the Quill and Scroll has four members this year: Corrine Bunker, Lorraine Mathews, Jackie Bouressa, and Dick Glover.

National Honor Society

SECOND ROW: Glen Leeson, Donald Dillabaugh, Virgil Place, Jim Harris, Dick Glover, Edgar Skaggs.

FIRST ROW: Catherine Algoe, Evelyn Ann Bailey, Betty Middleton are the selectees for the National Honor Society. They were chosen for outstanding characteristics in scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

Student Council

FIRST ROW: Marie Schroeter, Irma Jebens, Bernice Bacon, Sarah Jane Bowen, Flora Ann Nichols.

SECOND ROW: Francis Henderlong, Ed Skaggs, Paul Frame, Wayne Seegers

THIRD ROW: Bob Schmal, Mr. Erwin, Mr. Lane, make up the members of the Student Council. This group endeavors to effect a stronger bond between administration and students by considering problems which are common to both.

"Like A Choir of Angels . . ."

One hundred and ten voices blend together this year, to form East high school choir. They presented a beautiful and impressive concert on December 7, and followed it up with an even better one this spring. Other groups in the choir are the A Cappella Choir (below), the Triple Trio, the Cadet Ensemble, and the Boys' Ensemble.

The band, composed of about 70 members, is one of the best known organizations in the school. Everyone has seen their fine performances at the football and basketball games, not to mention their two "nifty" concerts.

CECIL CONQUEST
Drum Major

As usual, the Band sent members on the District Solo and Ensemble Contest. Five soloists, Lee Eagen, Baylora Church, Jean Palmer, Mildred Selkow and Margaret Clark, and ensembles, the Mixed Clarinet Quartet and the Brass Sextet won top honors and went on to compete in the State Contest. The band will lose a lot of its fine musicians through graduation this year, but we have no doubt that it will turn up better than ever next season.

G.A.A. Officers

This year the G. A. A. girls have played a double elimination tournament in basketball; sponsored ping-pong and volleyball tournaments; also presented a Spring Carnival—proceeds to go for sweaters and letters. They also enjoyed a hike and hamburger fry later this spring.

Athletes

Harold Horst, Secretary-Treasurer; Bill Nassau, Vice-President; Gerald Horst, President, are the officers of the Lettermen's Club.

Librarians

SECOND ROW: Jean Palmer, Louise Lusk, Evelyn Mikuta, Mary Lencionik, Debra Abraham, Dorothy Lottes, Georgia Ann Pao.

FIRST ROW: Patsy Kickell, Naon Maxwell, Mrs. Danneke are the personnel of the library staff. They spend their spare time taking care of the library; repairing books; having regular Wednesday evening meetings; and dreaming up those beautiful show-window displays.

Brush and Palette

The Brush and Palette Club is made up of all of the students who are enrolled in art classes. They do their bit by drawing posters for different organizations and furnishing aid in stage settings for plays and pageants. The officers are: Mildred Selkow, Vice President; Janet A'ank, President; Alma Jeanette Honk, Treasurer; Dorothy Lottes, Secretary.

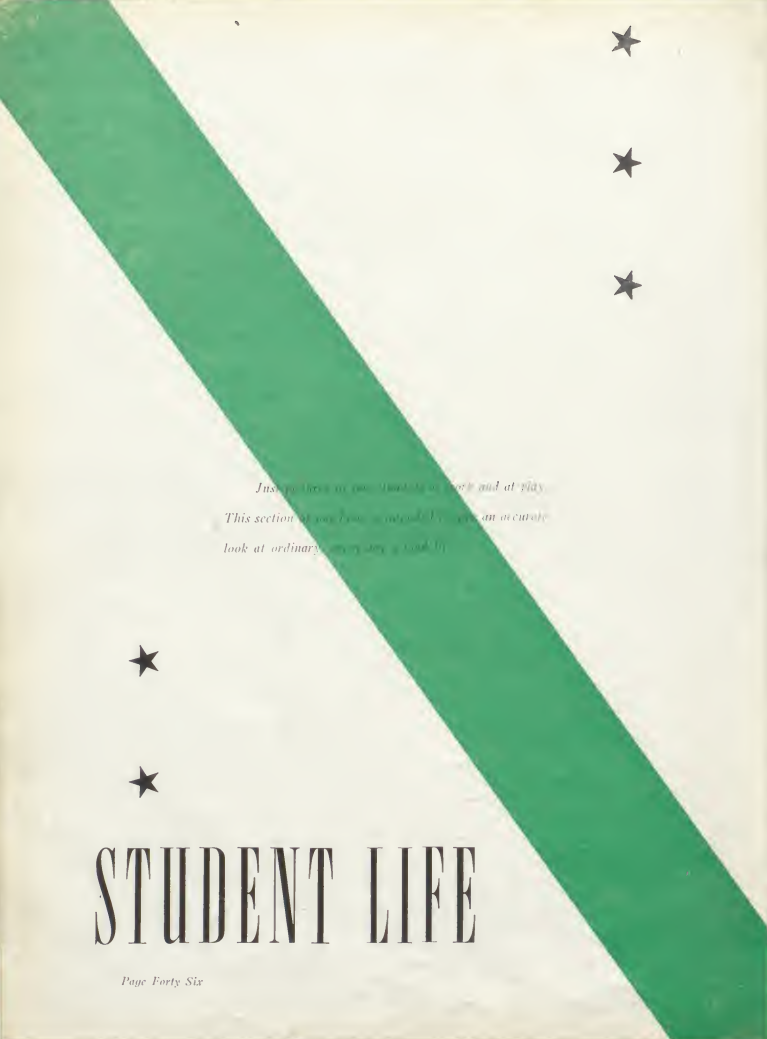

FIRST ROW: Earl Schmidt, Ellison Dillabough, Karl Westman, Glen Beck, Glen Ziesenis.

SECOND ROW: Wilbur Lottes, Mr. Hinle, Bob Strong.

Future Farmers

The F. F. A. sponsored a chili supper, pest concert, and had a lawn fertilizing project. They also had a fine time initiating their new members, and were fortunate enough to be able to send several delegates to the Future Farmer's convention at Purdue University.

This year the Bulldogs again proved themselves to be reckoned with on the gridiron. With a season's record of five wins against four losses, they set a scoring record among the non-conference teams by outscoring their opponents 185 to 107. The most outstanding feat of the season was the Bulldogs' return engagement with Lowell. In this game, which incidentally was played in a town pour of rain, the Bulldogs crushed their rivals by running up 33 points against the Red Devils' 19.

The entire first five of the varsity are graduating along with four other seniors who saw a considerable amount of action. This quintet includes Harold Horst, Chuck Shultz, Bill Nassau, Jimmy Knight, and Gerald Horst. The varsity team of next year will be composed entirely of this year's fine second team players.

This year's second team, composed entirely of juniors, made a fine showing for themselves. After getting off to a slow start, the boys finally began to click, and finished up the season by winning seven straight games in a row.

The second team this season, although not exceptionally large or fast, made up for these weaknesses in scrap and ability. They showed some very aggressive defensive work by holding their opponents to a mere 21-point average.

The varsity of next year will most likely be made up of this group of boys. Those returning who look like they will have regular positions on the first team are Bruce Shisler, Don Wayne, Bill Borchert, Ray Hannon and Wayne Seegers. There are several other boys who saw a considerable amount of action on the second team and with a little more experience should make varsity-caliber ball players. The biggest asset to this team is that they have played together all of this season, and because of this they will make a good-working, well-balanced basketball team.
